Frequently asked questions

How can I purchase a Contract for Sale from the ACT Law Society?

Hard copies

Hard copies of the Contract for Sale can continue to be purchased by members and their firms as per the existing arrangements.

Electronic contract

An electronic Contract for Sale can be purchased:

- as a 'guest', without the need to register and login;
- as a registered member user using a firm login.

Only ACT law firms will be able to register as member users.

What functions do I get if I register for a firm login?

ACT law firms that register to use the new system will have access to:

- member pricing;
- invoicing in arrears on a monthly basis for all contract purchases;
- a facility that enables purchased contracts to be downloaded for a period of two weeks from the purchase date;
- an ability to view details of previous purchases over the preceding 12 month period.

Registration by ACT law firms is free.

What is the cost of the electronic Contract for Sale?

- Registered Member User — $10 (GST inc)
- Non member / Individual purchaser — $25 (GST inc)

How do I pay for the electronic Contract for Sale?

Monthly invoicing in arrears for registered member users

The purchases made by registered member users will accumulate on a monthly basis. At the end of each month, the Law Society will invoice registered member users for the purchases made throughout the preceding month.

Monthly invoices issued by the Law Society to a registered member user must be paid within 14 days of receipt.

Single purchase as a guest

Single purchases (where the user is accessing the system as a 'guest' or where a law firm has not registered to use the system) will be charged at $25 (GST inc). This is consistent with current arrangements for the hard copy contracts.

'Guest' and non-registered user single purchases must be paid for via a credit card before the contract can be downloaded.

Can I continue to purchase hard copies of the Contract for Sale?

The Law Society will continue to sell hard (blue) copies of the Contract for Sale to those who wish to utilise the existing arrangements rather than access the electronic contract.

How many times can I download and/or print an electronic Contract for Sale?

Only one copy of the electronic Contract for Sale needs to be purchased per one conveyance.

It is understood that the purchaser of a contract will require a copy of the contract for the purchaser and a copy of the contract for the seller. Other copies of the contract may be required so that they can be provided to prospective purchasers.

Do I have to use the Schedule provided through the electronic system?

The new electronic system allows registered member users to elect to complete the Schedule (pages 1-2):

- within the new electronic system; or
- within the firm's internal systems.

If the registered member user elects to complete the Schedule within the Society's new electronic system, the user will be prompted through the schedule questions and the completed Schedule will print with the watermarked Contract for Sale.

If the registered member user wishes to continue to complete the Schedule within their existing firm-based systems, the user will be able to bypass completing the Schedule in the Society's new system. In this instance, the user need only complete a small number of property details to enable the Contract for Sale (pages 3-19) to be watermarked. The user may elect to also download pages 3-19 of the Contract for Sale and to omit pages 1-2 of the Schedule from the downloaded product.

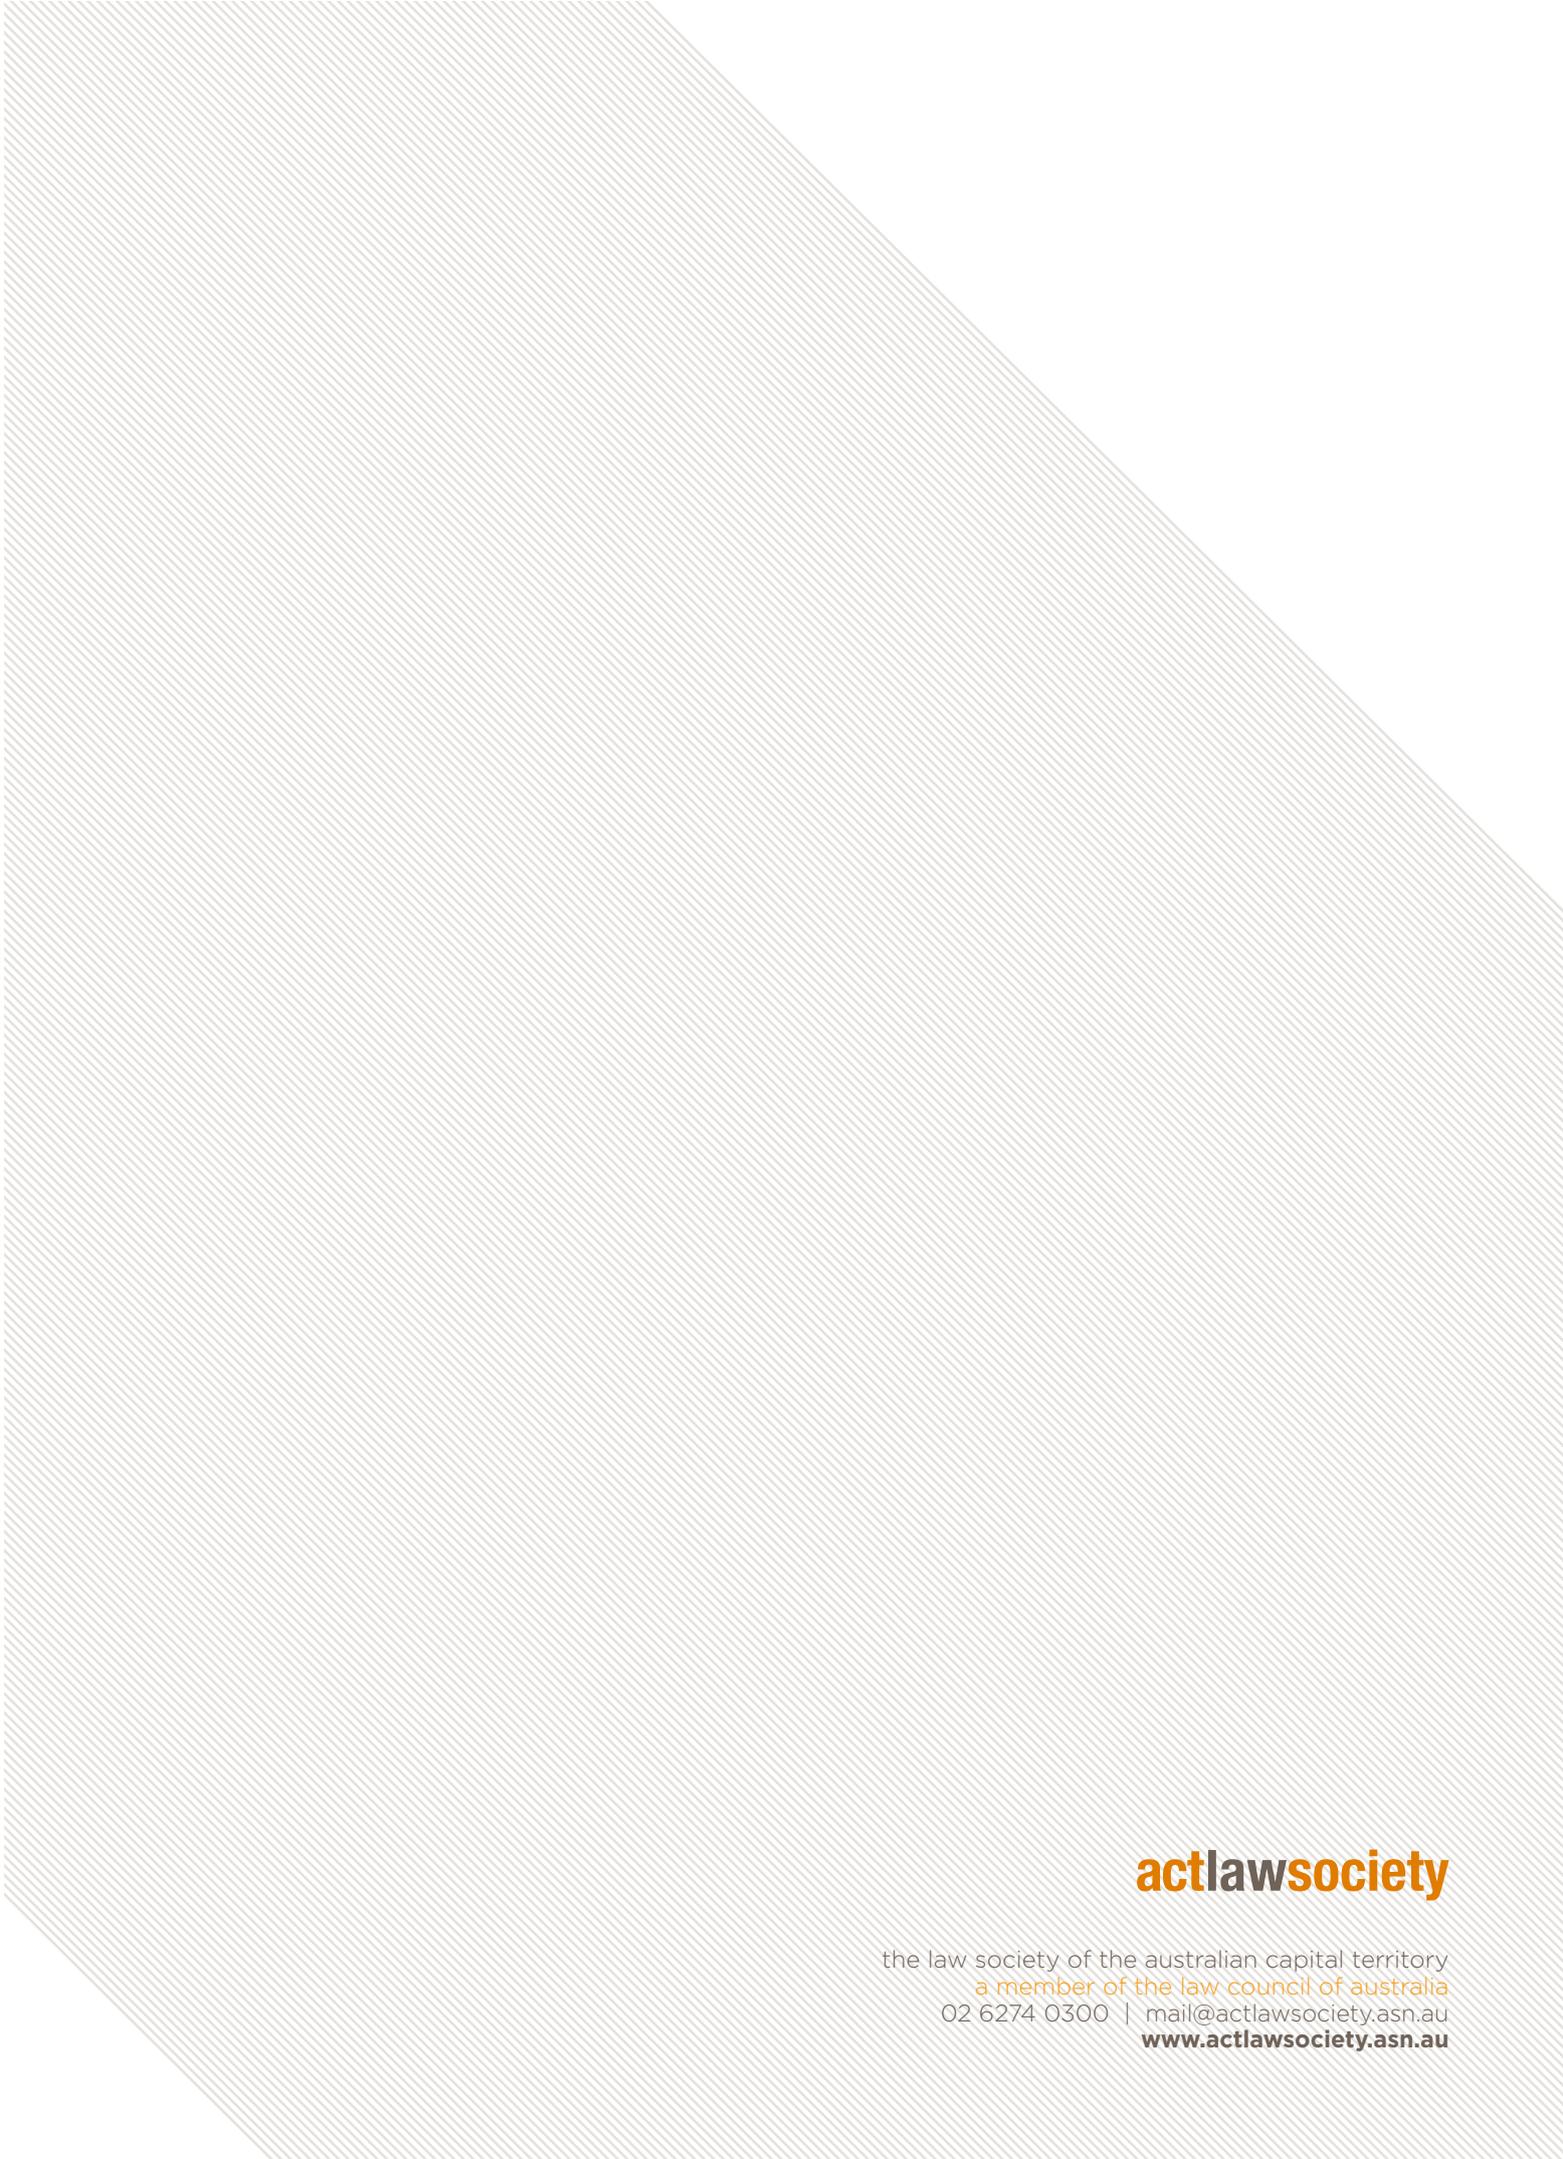

Can I edit an electronic Contract for Sale I have purchased after it has been generated?

Once an electronic Contract for Sale for a property has been generated, the property address details embedded in the watermark cannot be changed.

It is therefore important that the user carefully review the document at the 'Review' stage of the electronic purchase process.
